April 17, 2013

College of Pharmacy Holds Pinning Ceremony for Class of 2014

Parents, friends, faculty and staff of the University of Georgia College of Pharmacy attended the annual pinning ceremony for the 146 members of the Class of 2014. The ceremony, which was sponsored by Rite Aid, marked the students’ transition from classroom instruction to the clinical training that occurs during the fourth year of the pharmacy curriculum. Each class member received a pin to commemorate the event.

Jeff Lurey, director of the Academy of Independent Pharmacists, was the keynote speaker. Class president Laruen Willis was master of ceremonies, with Tara Fogleman, vice president, presenting the invocation and secretary Kristen Swanson introducing the speaker. Amy Miller, Alumni Council president, welcomed the class as future alumni.

More photos can be seen in the Photo Gallery of the College’s website at www.uga.edu.