THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA COLLEGE OF PHARMACY MAGAZINE

2015 ANNUAL REPORT EDITION
Dear College of Pharmacy Colleagues and Friends:

The University of Georgia College of Pharmacy saw a number of changes in 2015.

After two years of planning, we initiated a new Pharm.D. curriculum that focuses not just on students knowing more, but on being able to do more, communicate better, work in teams and work with other health care providers. An important part of this new approach is inter-professional education, which is an easy concept but one that is difficult to fully integrate, as it requires coordination between different health care entities. To accommodate these changes, we moved several of our science courses to the pre-pharmacy curriculum.

In preparation for our accreditation in fall 2016, we had the College's self-study kickoff in August. As almost 50 percent of our faculty have never participated in an accreditation visit at UGA, we invited Greg Boyer, director of the Professional Degree Program Accreditation at the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education, to present the importance of the self-study and the accreditation process, and its value for quality improvement.

The build-out of our 2+2 program continued during the year. We received accreditation approval for our Savannah campus and enrolled our first six third-year students in this program during the fall semester. Plans are for this program to increase to 12 and then to 18 by FY19. We also secured much sought-after space in Augusta by leasing the residual area in the HM building, where we have been located for the past eight years. With $3.7 million in secured funding for renovations, we anticipated the move from substandard space to more modern facilities.

When our alumnus Buddy Carter ('80) was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives from Georgia’s 1st congressional district, he established a fellowship for our Pharm.D. students in governmental affairs. Dustin Orvin, a then third-year student from Jesup, was chosen as the inaugural fellow. We hope this opportunity will continue for our pharmacy students for years to come.

We also saw major progress in our non-professional programs. For example, we developed new strategic plans for our various graduate programs. The college is particularly interested in expanding M.S. opportunities for Pharm.D. graduates and science majors.

Our regulatory program expanded, becoming more international in scope. The curriculum now includes South American and European regulations, and faculty located in Sao Paulo and Brussels are available to teach these components. Dr. Michael Bartlett took the initiative to conduct geo-advertising, which targets specific areas in which to recruit students. As a result, we are seeing an increased interest in the program, which attracts working adults, Pharm.D. graduates, graduate students as well as engineering students from UGA and Georgia Tech.

In May, the college graduated its first B.S. students in Pharmaceutical Sciences. We are expecting a significant growth in this program, with almost 200 freshmen considering this as their potential major. Because of this interest, we expanded our laboratory training sites, which now will accommodate up to 24 students per session.

Dr. Brad Phillips, department head of Clinical and Administrative Pharmacy, took on the directorship of UGA’s Clinical and Translational Research unit in addition to his department head position. While this is a new endeavor for the university, the program will certainly prosper with Dr. Phillips’ leadership.

Finally, the Dean’s Office received a boost in 2015 when it hired two key staff members from the UGA-Augusta Medical Partnership. Ashley Townsend is serving as the administrative manager, while Toni Phelabrum is the dean’s assistant. I firmly believe that staff is the key to our success, and these staff members are no exception. They provide background work, assure no oversight occurs and allow us to move forward with plans, policies and procedures. I am looking forward to their support as our college becomes more complex while striving to continue to live up to your expectations.

As always, thank you for your dedication and support of the College of Pharmacy. You help us operate a fantastic place for our students, which assures the future of our great profession.

Vasu Nair finds potential treatment for drug-resistant tuberculosis

Researchers at the University of Georgia have developed a new small molecule drug that may serve as a treatment against multi-drug resistant tuberculosis, a form of the disease that cannot be cured with conventional therapies. Dr. Vasu Nair, College of Pharmacy eminent scholar, describes his findings in a paper published recently in Bioorganic and Medicinal Chemistry Letters.

Nine million people contracted tuberculosis in 2013, and 1.5 million died from the disease, according to the World Health Organization. While standard anti-TB drugs can cure most people of Mycobacterium tuberculosis infection, improper use of antibiotics has led to new strains of the bacterium resistant to the two most powerful medications, isoniazid and rifampicin.

The compound Nair and his colleagues developed works by binding to magnesium and specific amino acids found within the bacterium, interrupting the production of RNA.

David Chu named to National Academy of Inventors

The National Academy of Inventors has named two University of Georgia faculty members to the 2015 class of NAI Fellows.

David Chu, Distinguished Research Professor in the College of Pharmacy, and Wayne Hanna, professor of crop and soil sciences, join an elite group of 582 innovators representing more than 190 prestigious research universities and governmental and nonprofit research institutions.

Election to NAI Fellow status is a professional distinction accorded to academic inventors who have demonstrated a prolific spirit of innovation in creating or facilitating outstanding inventions that have made a tangible impact on quality of life, economic development and the welfare of society. Five UGA faculty members have been named NAI Fellows since the honor was established in 2013.

Catherine Bourg named 2015 Teacher of the Year

Dr. Catherine Bourg was awarded the College of Pharmacy’s Teacher of the Year Award for 2015. The award committee cited Dr. Bourg’s innovations in course redesign and her commitment to teaching, advising, and mentoring students in the classroom and clinical settings. Bourg had never planned on a career as a pharmacy educator when she was a student. So she was quite surprised, and honored, when she was named Teacher of the Year for 2015.

Her teaching philosophy focuses on leading by example, challenging students to make a commitment to life-long learning, and development of inter-professional collaborations. “I enjoy seeing the learner progress and being able to facilitate independent learning. It’s rewarding seeing a student or resident feel confident in what they know and to be able to take care of patients,” she added.
Susan Fagan named to Inaugural Women's Leadership Fellowship

Dr. Susan Fegan, assistant dean of the College of Pharmacy's Augusta campus and Distinguished Research Professor, along with eight other University of Georgia faculty members will hone their leadership skills and gain a deeper understanding of the challenges and opportunities confronting research universities as members of the inaugural class of the university's Women's Leadership Fellows Program.

The cohort includes representatives from seven schools and colleges as well as the Carl Vinson Institute of Government. As Women's Leadership Fellows, the faculty members will attend a monthly meeting and will learn from senior administrators on campus as well as visiting speakers from academia, business and other fields. The program also will feature a concluding weekend retreat in June for more in-depth learning.

Researchers find mechanism for better ovarian cancer treatment—Shelley Hooks and Mandi Murph

Over the last five years, UGA College of Pharmacy associate professors Mandi Murph and Shelley Hooks have discovered that a type of protein known as RGS10 impacts the effectiveness of ovarian cancer chemotherapy. Murph also discovered that mTOR signaling, a protein encoded by the mTOR gene, drives the effects of RGS10.

Resistance to chemotherapy that was previously very effective is a major roadblock that prevents better outcomes in this disease. Finding mTOR as the mechanism of RGS10's effects could help explain the unique features of chemoresistant cancer cells.

Their article, “Cellular deficiency in the RGS10 protein facilitates chemoresistant ovarian cancer,” reviews over five years worth of research on RGS10 and was published in Future Medicinal Chemistry. Their findings on RGS10 have jump-started an interest in the protein as well as created several major research articles on the topic.

$3.7 million renovation of pharmacy building at Georgia Board of Regents approved

A $3.7 million renovation of the pharmacy building at Georgia Regents University won approval from the University System of Georgia's Board of Regents.

The University of Georgia's pharmacy program has been in existence in Augusta since 1972 and provides interdisciplinary training for students and the opportunity for researchers to work with actual patients. UGA took over the rest of the building after the renovation. Included in the first phase was a new roof, upgrades to plumbing and electrical systems and improvements to a few areas that are already occupied. The second phase rehabilitated the rest of the occupied space to permit labs to move from the Charlie Norwood VA Medical Center to the pharmacy building.
Three UGA CoP Faculty Named Fellows

Three faculty at the University of Georgia College of Pharmacy—Dianne May, David DeRemer and Christopher Bland—were named Fellows of national organizations.

May, a clinical professor, and DeRemer, a clinical associate professor, were named Fellows of the American College of Clinical Pharmacy (ACCP). Fellowship in the professional society recognizes excellence in the practice and science of clinical pharmacy. Achieved by less than 5% of the ACCP membership, this top award is bestowed to individual members who have demonstrated sustained contributions to the organization and exceptional performance in clinical practice and/or research. May and DeRemer were recognized as Fellows (FCCP) at the ACCP Global Conference Awards Ceremony in San Francisco.

Clinical Assistant Professor Christopher Bland was named Fellow of the Infectious Diseases Society of America (FIDSA). Fellows represent those who have achieved professional excellence and provided significant service to the profession of infectious diseases. Only four pharmacists nationally achieved fellow status this year.

Dr. Lindsey H. Welch, Advanced Pharmacy Practice Experience director, was named the 2015 Distinguished Young Pharmacist of the Year in Georgia. The prestigious award was conferred on the Watkinsville pharmacist at a meeting of the Georgia Pharmacy Association.

The Distinguished Young Pharmacist of the Year award is presented annually to a pharmacist in each state for individual excellence and outstanding contributions in state pharmacy association activities, community affairs and in professional practice. The award is sponsored by Pharmacists Mutual Companies.

Pharmacists Mutual, rated Excellent by A.M. Best, is a nationally recognized leader and provider of insurance products and risk management solutions for pharmacists and pharmacies, dentists and dental practices, associated businesses and professionals. For over a century, Pharmacists Mutual has provided peace of mind to its policyholders through comprehensive, quality products and services.

Division of Nontraditional Education and Outreach

The function of the Division of Nontraditional Education and Outreach is to provide continuing education, certificates, and appropriate external degree programs for pharmacists, other health-care professionals and scientists. These programs help providers maintain competency and enhance knowledge and skills in the pharmaceutical sciences and the practice of pharmacy. Additionally, the Division is charged with overseeing the College of Pharmacy’s outreach endeavors to the University and community by facilitating public service programs focused on health maintenance, the treatment of diseases and appropriate medication use.

Postgraduate Education Conferences

The Office of Postgraduate Continuing Education and Outreach (OPCEO) accredited 250 continuing pharmacy education activities in 2015. OPCEO approved 155 live activities and 95 home study activities. Over 328 hours of live continuing education were offered to the 3566 state, national, and international participants. Pharmacists, pharmacy technicians and other health care professionals were awarded over 6181.75 hours of continuing education credit at these live programs. Of the 95 online (web-based) activities that were offered, OPCEO approved 265 hours of continuing education and awarded 2073.25 hours to 640 registrants.

Of particular note this year, OPCEO worked with the Georgia Prescription Drug Abuse Prevention Initiative and Dr. Merrill Norton to develop and deliver three hours of online continuing education to provide updates to pharmacists and pharmacy technicians on the scope of prescription drug abuse locally and nationwide and to define the role of pharmacy in curbing this epidemic. This program is funded through a grant from the initiative and offered free to all pharmacists and pharmacy technicians.

The OPCEO also worked the Georgia Center for Continuing Education, as well as, Drs. Bill Spruill and Bill Wade to reformat the long standing Concepts in Clinical Pharmacokinetics program into a case-based learning course with fully automated formative and summative assessments. The new case based approach, launched in 2015, does not require manual grading. The course provides 30 hours of continuing pharmacy education and a practice-based certificate of achievement.

Enduring Continuing Education Programs

The Office of Postgraduate Continuing Education and Outreach provided 16 enduring continuing education programs in 2015, including a certificate program, a web-based Spanish program and a three-hour program on prescription drug abuse. A total of 255 practice-based hours were awarded to 13 participants in certificate programs, and 204 application-based hours were awarded to 17 participants for Pharmacy Spanish. Additionally, 372 hours were awarded to 446 pharmacy preceptors and 60 hours to 20 participants for drug abuse prevention.

The Office continues to offer a variety of preceptor development education. The online Preceptor Development Series offers five hours of continuing education through six knowledge based modules. Additionally, the Pharmacy Grand Rounds series provided 25 programs for faculty and preceptor development. Students, residents, faculty and preceptors benefited from the weekly programs that were broadcast to five locations. During 2015, 212.5 hours were awarded to 45 pharmacy preceptors.

Pharmacy Technician Focus

OPCEO launched the UGA Rx Tech CE Initiative with special funding from the Dean's Office. The program offered 7 activities designed expressly for technicians, plus 3 others for pharmacists and pharmacy technicians. A total of 40 activities were approved for pharmacy technicians, and 363 hours of continuing pharmacy education were awarded to technicians.

BioPharma Regulatory Affairs Programs

The BioPharma Regulatory Affairs program offers graduate certificate programs in Regulatory Affairs and in Clinical Trials Management. It also offers a M.S. degree in Regulatory Affairs with a thesis option or a project. All of these programs are available online and are perfectly suited to the schedules of working professionals. At the end of 2015, 98 students were enrolled in the programs, which are designed to meet the needs of the pharmaceutical, animal health, biotechnology and medical device industries. A total of 26 companies / institutions have had employees enrolled in the program with 20 of these from the State of Georgia. Since 2005, the programs have enrolled 288 students and graduated 159 Regulatory Affairs certificates, 50 Clinical Trials Management certificates and 48 MS degrees.

2015 was an exciting year for the BioPharma Regulatory Affairs program. During this year, the program hired three new faculty members with a wide variety of experiences that has greatly expanded the breadth of the program.

Alexander Jacks joined the faculty in August 2015. He currently is the Executive Director, Global Quality Assurance at Alimera Sciences in Alpharetta, Georgia. Alimera Sciences is a pharmaceutical company that specializes in the development of prescription ophthalmic therapies. He has a wide range of relevant experience from having worked at Marion Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals, GlaxoWellcome, the Johnson & Johnson subsidiary Noramco, Huber Industries, CR Bard, Altea Therapeutics, CardioMEMS and CorMatrix Cardiovascular. He earned his B.S. in biology from Northern Illinois University and his M.S. in chemistry from Illinois State University. His experiences in the pharmaceutical, medical device and drug/device combination industries along with his years of directly interfacing with the U.S. FDA Centers for Drug Evaluation and Research and Devices and Radiological Health are valuable experiences for the program.

Seppe de Gelas joined the faculty in September 2015. He is currently part-owner and Head of Operations at LCA Laboratories in Brussels, Belgium. LCA Laboratories is a contract laboratory specializing in drug development working with hospitals, research centers and pharmaceutical companies throughout the world. He previously worked at Bristol-Myers Squibb, Covance, Baxter Healthcare, UCB, Lonza and Amgen gaining experience in pharmaceuticals, animal health products and clinical trials. He earned his M.S. in chemistry from Vrie University in Belgium.

Samuel Eber Machado Silva joined the faculty of the BioPharma Regulatory Affairs program in December 2015. He is the owner of Terra Boa Boutique a consulting company in Sao Paulo, Brazil. He previously worked at NuPathe Specialty Pharmaceuticals, Johnson & Johnson and Cristalia Produtos Quimicos e Farmaceuticos gaining experience in pharmaceuticals and drug/device combination products. He earned his Ph.D. in drug discovery and development from the University of Sciences in Philadelphia. He works extensively with the Brazilian regulatory agency ANVISA and is able to bring his extensive experience with both U.S. and Latin American regulations.

Outreach Activities

The 40th International Good Manufacturing Practices Conference was held in March at the UGA Hotel and Conference Center. The conference drew 277 attendees from across the United States, Canada, Latin American, Europe and Asia. The conference, which included presentations from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, Health Canada, the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (U.K) and the Saudi FDA provides updates to and changes in regulations for manufacturing processes for drugs and medical devices throughout the world.
The 3rd annual Medical Device Regulations Conference was held in November at the UGA Hotel and Conference Center. The conference, which is designed to support the vibrant medical device industry in the State of Georgia, drew 70 participants. The theme for the conference was Understanding the New 510k submission Process for Medical Devices. The conference, included presentations from leading scientists from industry and U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

This year marked the 6th year that the College of Pharmacy participated in the Farm Worker Family Health Program in Moultrie, Georgia. This interprofessional service learning program brings together Emory undergraduate nursing and nurse practitioner students, dental hygiene students from three schools, physical therapy students from Georgia State and public health and pharmacy students from UGA to provide healthcare services to farm workers and their families in rural Georgia. Two faculty members, 16 second-year pharmacy students and 1 fourth year pharmacy student participated in the program from June 7-19, 2015.

The 12th annual Dawgtoberfest Health Fair was held on October 15th at the College of Pharmacy. This student led event provided influenza vaccines, health screenings and health information to more than 200 faculty, staff and students of the University. The event received funding from Walgreens.

The Office of Continuing Education and Outreach coordinates the Board of Pharmacy State Licensure Exam each June. In 2015, 366 candidates sat for the exam. The College of Pharmacy hosts the Georgia Board of Pharmacy for their June meeting and then collaborates with the Secretary of State Testing Division to facilitate space, technology, and supplies for board members and exam proctors, including meals and breaks. Additionally, the Office works with faculty throughout the College, to secure adequate office space for candidates to interview as well as lab space for the practical.

The following accomplishments were noted for the Division of Experience Programs:

- A new 3rd year health system based IPPE was developed and implemented across all 4 campuses. This IPPE ensured we met standards 2007 health system requirements and will serve as a IPPE within the 3rd year of the new curriculum as it is rolled out
- IPPE incorporation into Essentials and implementation of standardized patients with UGA Drama Department.
- IPPEs were established for the Savannah 2+2 campus (health system and immunization clinics)
- Two IPPE focus groups were held to examine the structural needs for the 3 week community and health system IPPE blocks for the new curriculum.
- Relationships were developed to serve as a basis for transition of the 2nd year longitudinal experience to an ambulatory care experience with Athens Neighborhood Health, Advantage Behavioral, and Mercy Health.
- Planning for an interdisciplinary disaster preparedness IPPE is ongoing which was held Spring 2016. This experience will help meet IPPE and IPE requirements.
- Evaluation of changes needed to ensure adequate data was captured for the November 2016 accreditation visit (e.g. changes to existing evaluation tools to capture IPE occurring during APPEs, evaluating preceptor development options, etc).

The following accomplishments were noted for Clinical and Administrative Pharmacy:

- The pediatric, ambulatory care and GRU Pharmacy Practice residency programs received full six year accreditation.
- Amber Clemmons was appointed Chair of the program committee for the Hematology/Oncology Pharmacy Association (HOPA).
- Catherine Bourg named 2015 Teacher of the Year.
- Brad Phillips named in the Top 25 pharmacy professors in the country by Sechel Ventures.
- Trisha Branan selected to the first ACCP Research Institute Mentored Research Investigator Training (MeRIT) Program.
- Ewan Cobran selected by The National Institute on Minority Health and Health Disparities as a 2015 Scholar.
- Kalen Manasco appointed a series editor for the 2016-2018 edition of the Pediatrics Self-Assessment Program (PedSAP) through the American College of Clinical Pharmacy.
- Chris Bland named Fellow of the Infectious Diseases Society of America (FIDSA).
- David DeRemer and Dianne May named Fellows of the American College of Clinical Pharmacy (ACCP).
- Four faculty were elected to leadership roles as Practice Research Network (PRN) Chairs of the American College of Clinical Pharmacy (ACCP), Dr. Dianne May, Chair, Drug Information; Dr. Christopher Bland, Chair, Infectious Disease; Dr. David DeRemer, Chair Hematology/Oncology; Dr. Kalen Manasco, Chair-Elect, Pediatrics.
- Merrill Norton was honored by the Georgia Drama Department.
Addiction Counselors Association by receiving the prestigious Distinguished Service Award for 2015.

- Drs. Anthony Hawkins and Trisha Branan became Board Certified Critical Care Pharmacist (BCCCP).
- Dr. Tauheed Ishrat, assistant research scientist, received his first NIH R01 grant. The grant provides support to evaluate mechanisms of vascular protection in hyperglycemic embolic stroke.

The following accomplishments were noted for Pharmaceutical and Biomedical Sciences:

- Aaron Beedle named UGA Teacher of the Week in Spring 2015.
- James Bruckner was reappointed as a member of the Science Advisory Board Chemical Assessment Committee, U.S. EPA.
- Brian Cummings was nominated for the 2015 American Society of Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics Toxicology Young Investigator Award.
- Deborah Elder received the Advisor Award for hosting the most highly attended regional conference to date.
- Eileen Kennedy was appointed Research Editor, Frontiers in Pharmacology (Nature Publishing Group).
- Cory Momany selected as CTL Fellow for Innovative Teaching.
- Shelly Hooks and Mandi Murph featured in UGA Today as researchers who discovered mechanism that could lead to better ovarian cancer treatment.
- Scott Pegan was highlighted by the US Army for his scientific advising during a Joint US and Australian exercise, and was selected by the UGA Provost's Office to be featured in an article showcasing his research, teaching and service.
- Catherine White was elected to Chair-Elect for Pharmaceutics Section, AACP.
- Jason Zastre was honored by the UGA Provost's office as a UGA Research Superstar, and was recognized by the UGA Career Center for contributing to the career development of UGA students.
- Y. George Zheng was also honored by the UGA Provost's office as a UGA Research Superstar.
Liza Ngo NSF Graduate Fellowship

Liza Ngo, a second-year graduate student at the University of Georgia College of Pharmacy, was awarded a prestigious National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellowship (GRF) for 2015. Her selection was based on her demonstrated potential to contribute to strengthening the vitality of the United States science and engineering enterprise. NSF Graduate Fellowships are among the most competitive graduate research fellowships, and are often awarded to individuals who go on to become lifelong leaders who contribute significantly to both scientific innovation and teaching. NSF awarded the GRF to 2,000 individuals from among 16,500 applicants in 2015. Among the 2,000 awardees, 1,053 are women, 494 are from underrepresented minority groups, 43 are persons with disabilities, and 31 are veterans. The stipend for 2015-16 is $34,000 per twelve month fellowship year, and another $12,000 to cover educational expenses. The GRFP Fellowship period is five years; financial support is provided for a maximum of three years.

College of Pharmacy Holds Pinning Ceremony for Class of 2016

Parents, friends, faculty and staff of the University of Georgia College of Pharmacy attended the 2015 pinning ceremony for the 140 members of the Class of 2016. The ceremony, which was sponsored by Rite Aid, marked the students’ transition from classroom instruction to the clinical training that occurs during the fourth year of the pharmacy curriculum. Each class member received a pin to commemorate the event. Pharmacy alumnus David Pope (’04), co-founder of Creative Pharmacist, was the keynote speaker. Class president Bliss McMichael was master of ceremonies, with co-vice president Dana Brock presenting the invocation and Kacee Barnett, class secretary/treasurer introducing the speaker. Co-vice president Payal Kakadiya presented the I.Z. Harris award to Chace Vaughn, as an outstanding member of the class.

White Coat Ceremony Welcomes New Pharmacy Class

The University of Georgia College of Pharmacy welcomed 144 new students into the Class of 2019 with its annual White Coat ceremony. At that event, all new students received white lab coats to mark the beginning of their pharmacy careers. College of Pharmacy Alumni Council president James Holley (’95, ’96) was the keynote speaker. Pharmacy coordinator Clinton Cain (’74) represented Kroger Pharmacy as sponsor of the event. Alumni Council members Andre Mackey (’88) and John Drew (’93,’95) helped the incoming students receive their white coats. Of the Class of 2019’s 144 members, 66.7 percent are female, 31.9 percent are minorities, 50.7 percent have a bachelor’s degree or higher, 45.1 percent previously attended UGA, and 6.9% are out-of-state. The grade point average is 3.43, with an average Pharmacy College Admission Test (PCAT) score in the 80th percentile.
2015 Pharmacy Graduates Receive Awards and Graduation Certificates

The University of Georgia College of Pharmacy graduated 137 Doctor of Pharmacy students in ceremonies held on May 2, 2015 at the Hugh Hodgson Hall. Of those students, 69 graduated with honors: 18 summa cum laude, 30 magna cum laude and 25 cum laude. Twenty-seven graduates were selected to attend postgraduate residency programs, 14 in Georgia and the remaining 13 in other states.

The 2015 graduation weekend’s festivities began with the 67th annual Senior Awards banquet on Friday evening, where 13 exemplary students received 12 separate awards for special achievement, academic excellence and professionalism. Raphaelle Rose Lombardo served as the Master of Ceremonies.

Top awards were presented as follows:

- Robert C. Wilson Award– Thomas Adam Brown
- Kenneth L. Waters Award– Leah Ainsley Stowers
- Durward N. Entrekin Pharmacy Student Leadership Award– Patrick J. Y. Tu
- Lilly Achievement Award– Kathryn Tyler Maples
- Merck Award – Patrick Terry Brandin, Thomas Adam Brown and Raybun Carol Spelts
- APhA-ASP Senior Recognition Certificate– Leah Ainsley Stowers
- Facts and Comparisons Award of Excellence in Clinical Communications– Chioma E. Enyinnah
- McKesson Award– John Michael Hughes
- Mylan Pharmaceuticals Inc. Excellence in Pharmacy Award– Megan Elizabeth Phillips
- Pharmdawg Award– Kristin Delane Bradley and Kyley Kani Makanani
- Redfearn Award– Ian Edward Dunne
- TEVA Pharmaceuticals USA Outstanding Student Award– Page Skinner Thomas
- Additional awards were given to preceptors: Patricia Knowles, Amanda Miller and Karyn Taylor

2015 Summer Science Institute Focuses on Science and Pharmacy

Twenty-three area high school students participated in the 2015 Dean Stuart Feldman Summer Science Institute (SSI) at the University of Georgia College of Pharmacy. The focus of the institute is pharmacy and science and includes lectures on pharmacy research, laboratory experiments in clinical skills, and discussions with science faculty.

The week-long program was established in 2010 for high school students with a strong aptitude in math and science. Dean Stuart Feldman is a major supporter of the program, along with Walgreens, Student National Pharmaceutical Association and Mr. (‘70) and Mrs. William Robie.
More than 7,000 alumni call the UGA College of Pharmacy their academic home. A variety of recognitions and activities take place throughout the year that acknowledge the dedication and services bestowed on the college by these dedicated individuals. These are highlights during 2015:

Bulldog 100
The UGA Alumni Association recognized the 100 fastest-growing companies owned or operated by UGA alumni during the sixth annual Bulldog 100 Celebration Feb. 7, 2015 at the Atlanta Marriott Marquis. Proudly representing the College of Pharmacy were three pharmacy alumni who were recognized for their entrepreneurial success. They, along with their businesses and rankings, are:

- Reed Liggin (BSPH ’94) – RazorInsights, #15 (not pictured)
- Michael Azzolin (Pharm.D. ’02) – Pharm.D. on Demand, #23
- Stewart Bloodworth (BSPH ’94) – Universal Servo Group, #41

College of Pharmacy. Albert W. Jowdy Memorial Golf Classic
Eighty-one players teed off at the annual Jowdy Memorial Golf Classic on May 18, 2015 at Athens Country Club. Almost $3,500 was raised to benefit the Albert W. Jowdy Scholarship Fund.
Homecoming Tailgate and Class Reunions

More than 200 alumni, family and friends returned to the College of Pharmacy to renew acquaintances and reminisce about their academic years on Oct. 20, 2015. During the festivities, Andre Mackey ('88), a CVS pharmacist from Avondale Estates, was introduced as the new president of the college's 18–member Alumni Council. He will serve in that position until October 2017. In addition, the Alumni council presented two recognitions: the Distinguished Alumnus Alumnus Award and the Distinguished Service Award. The 2015 recipients are:

Distinguished Alumnus Award

Michael Azzolin graduated from UGA with his Doctorate of Pharmacy in 2002. Azzolin is the chief operating officer and co-founder of Pharm.D. on Demand, a company that serves as an alternative to 24-hour hospital pharmacy coverage. Pharm.D. on Demand was featured on the UGA Bulldog 100 in 2014 (ranked #12) and 2015 (ranked #23). Aside from his success in business, Azzolin also worked to establish the Spruill–Wade–Cobb Fund for Clinical and Administrative Pharmacy and encourages classmates to donate. He continues to give back to the College of Pharmacy by being a guest speaker at the continuing education series and the entrepreneurial studies class. Michael and his wife, Stephanie, live in Bishop with their family.

Distinguished Service Award

Jeff Jowdy received his Bachelor of Arts in Journalism from the University of Georgia in 1983. Jowdy is the owner and president of Lighthouse Counsel Company, a business that partners with nonprofits to help develop and enforce strategies that increase mission awareness, organizational effectiveness and philanthropic support. He has been a dedicated supporter of the College of Pharmacy by serving as an advisor to the Comprehensive Campaign Board and using his business experience to help with assessments of fundraising and alumni outreach. He has supported the college through the establishment of the Millicent McKendry Jowdy Endowed Student Scholarship and represents his family at the annual Jowdy Golf Classic, a tournament which benefits the Albert W. Jowdy Pharmacy Scholarship, named for his late father who was a long–time beloved professor in the College of Pharmacy.
GRANTS AND AWARDS 2015

Department of Clinical and Administrative Pharmacy
Ten grants received research funds in the Department of Clinical and Administrative Pharmacy in 2015 totaling $1,106,941. Those faculty receiving $100,000 or more as principal investigators were:

El-Remessy, Azza
$ 308,700
Molecular mechanisms of diabetic retinopathy
National Institutes Of Health

Fagan, Susan
$ 319,000
Angiotensin Receptor Agonism to Promote Recovery After Stroke
National Institutes of Health

Shenoy, Somanath
$ 310,275
Protein kinase b (akt)-mediated pathway regulating endothelial-barrier function
National Institutes of Health

Department of Pharmaceutical and Biomedical Sciences
Sixteen grants received research funds in the Department of Pharmaceutical and Biomedical Sciences in 2015 totaling $2,221,541. Those faculty receiving $100,000 or more as principal investigators were:

Cai, Houjian
$ 408,300
Targeting myristoylation of SRC family kinases for inhibition of prostate tumoring
National Institutes of Health

Cai, Houjian
$ 337,500
Dietary saturated fatty acids promote SRC kinase-mediated prostate tumor progression
US Department of Defense

Cummings, Brian

POSTERS & PROCEEDINGS AT CONFERENCES

HONOR ROLL OF GIVING 2015

On behalf of the UGA College of Pharmacy, we wish to extend our heartfelt appreciation to our benefactors for their support. Because of this generosity, students are assured an outstanding educational experience, which will prepare them to be successful pharmacists in the future. Our college will continue to thrive and prosper if external funding continues. Now more than ever, we look to our alumni, corporate partners, faculty, staff and friends for their continued contributions.
