Phillips elected treasurer of national organization

Bradley Phillips, Millikan-Reeve professor and head of Clinical and Administrative Pharmacy at the University of Georgia College of Pharmacy, has been elected to a three-year term as treasurer of the American College of Clinical Pharmacy, effective in Fall, 2012.

His nomination was made by ACCP members through the Nominations Committee and approved for the election ballot by the Board of Regents. All ACCP members voted to select the treasurer.

As treasurer Phillips will join the Board of Regents and also serve as Chair of ACCP’s College Budget and Finance Committee.

ACCP is a professional and scientific society that provides leadership, education, advocacy, and resources enabling clinical pharmacists to achieve excellence in practice and research.
